

21COE Lecture

Professor David Crich

University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC)
Chicago, USA

"Diastereoselective Glycosylation: Recent Advances"

Professor Crich's researches interests include the fields of synthetic organic chemistry such as organic synthesis using radical reactions and carbohydrate syntheses. Especially, his recent contributions to the development of new methodologies for synthetic carbohydrates are outstanding!
<http://www.chem.uic.edu/crich/>

2006-12-1 (Fri) 15:30-17:00
Katsura Campus (A2-302)

Prof. Jun-ichi Yoshida
yoshida@sbchem.kyoto-u.ac.jp

This lecture will be held as a joint lecture with Prof. Jamison of MIT.